Accommodations

If you haven't made your reservations, it is imperative that you do so now. A complete listing of hotels can be found at the Travel Utah website: <http://www.discovermoab.com/hotels.htm> We have a rate at the Moab Valley Inn (the symposium location) of $116.95 or $143 for a suite. Use group code is AS102013 or just ask for the Utah Rock Art rate. The hotel has added rooms on Thursday night at those rates. If you made an earlier reservation at the higher rate on Thursday, you may wish to call back.

Diane Orr reports that the Virginian (800-261-2063) had rooms available for $79. People, who are traveling with friends, may want to consider sharing a condominium. Try the following contact if this is of interest: www.moabutahlodging.com 800-505-5343.

Field trips

Dell Crandall reports that fieldtrips are progressing well. He says we currently have enough leaders, although if anyone would like to put their name on the list he would appreciate some backup leaders in case someone needs to drop out. Contact Dell at: dcdglyphs@etv.net . The list of field trips is attached to your email or included with your paper Vestiges. We do not list the field trips on our website to avoid indexing by search engines.

There are some special trips being organized. On Thursday Oct 10, there will be a special trip just for field trip leaders. A little "thank you" from URARA. Also on Thursday, we will be organizing a documentation trip to Crescent Canyon.

For those of you who prefer a more individualized approach to viewing your rock art, Dell is preparing several self-guided rock art tours.

We have one final special event. Francois Gohier will be at the Sego Canyon rock art site on Friday October 11 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. I consider this Utah's best rock art site with spectacular Ute, Fremont, and Barrier Canyon images located within a few yards of each other. I hope that many of you who are interested in a less intense field trip will drop by to talk to him about this fantastic site.

Field trip registration forms are included with the registration forms in this Vestiges newsletter. Please return your registration prior to September 20th. Indicate multiple preferences in case your first choice has already been filled. Contact Dell Crandall if you have questions regarding field trips. dcdglyphs@etv.net Dell will also be available on Thursday evening (7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.) or Sunday morning (7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.) at the Moab Valley Inn conference location.

Presentations

Moab, Utah in the early fall is the place that photographers and nature lovers dream about. URARA is pleased to be able to invite rock art lovers to join together and experience the friendship, company and intellectual stimulation that our 33rd symposium will surely provide.

This year we have two keynote speakers lined up. Sally Cole will explain how the Moab valley was used over the centuries. As part of the BLM-Earthwatch Mill Creek project, she was able to synthesize archaeological and rock art evidence to put together a chronology of use of the Moab area. Larry Loendorf has been involved with Plains Indian rock art research, and will show us what the buffalo and the sun have to do with each other in the plains.

We have many others that have been involved with their own research and preservation projects and are anxious to share the results with us. We are pleased to be able to afford them the audience that is anxious to hear what they have to say. This year we will be giving special recognition to someone who has worked in preservation for several years, and needs to be rewarded. It will be a stimulating and rewarding weekend, and we look forward to seeing you there. (by Nina Bowen)

The Preservation Session will highlight the Moab area and URARA preservation efforts around the state. Leigh Grench and Quent and Pam Baker will talk about Moab rock art that is being loved to death and the BLM efforts to save the sites. The Bakers will also talk about the National Historic Register Nomination for the Moab District. Nina Bowen will lead an in depth discussion on the rock art at Utah Lake and highlight the efforts of BLM law enforcement in making improvements. Members of the Nine Mile Coalition will talk about important developments in Nine Mile Canyon. We'll also have updates on rock art recording on private land in St. George and a review of the status of the Programmatic Agreement we signed for the Bighorn Basin in Wyoming.

Auction

Carol Garner reminds us that it's time to think about donations for the silent auction. Think of something rock art-related and interesting, educational, exciting, or just plain funny that you can bring to add to the fun(d)raising. As usual, Dell Crandall and Larry Evans will be reigning, explaining, and entertaining! For any questions or to send a donation if you are not able to attend, contact Carol Garner at gypsicholar@aol.com

URARA Business Meeting

Symposium is our only time when the majority of members all gather in one place. It is our time to meet and organize ourselves. Half of our Board of Directors cycle off every year in accordance with our bylaws. We are always interested in new people who are interested in serving on the Board or are willing to help out with the many other jobs we have such as helping out with field trips, our accounting, getting us up to speed with the new electronic era in terms of our communication, assistance with our Vestiges newsletter, maintaining our membership database, helping out with documentation projects, or serving on our conservation group which gets involved with the many projects that impact rock art in Utah. If you would like more information on any of these topics, would like to "throw your hat into the ring", or simply have an agenda item for the business meeting please contact Ben Everitt at rockdoc@xmission.com.

Pecos Conference Report

Submitted by Ben Everitt

Several URARA members attended the Pecos Conference in Flagstaff, August 9 and 10. It was well organized. Speakers were allotted 10 minutes, which made some of us wince. The venue was at the hotshot camp on the west flank of the San Francisco Peaks in a beautiful meadow knee-deep in wildflowers. Two large tents were set up, one for sessions and one for vendors and posters. A mobile food caterer provided coffee and vittles for lunch. Camping was set up nearby at the edge of the pines.

Besides project updates, we heard from the Archaeological Conservancy, the Forest Service, and the National Park Service about activities and recent preservation efforts. There were talks on new geophysical techniques for exploration and site mapping. Bob Mark flew his little 4-rotor RC drone around for us to marvel at.
